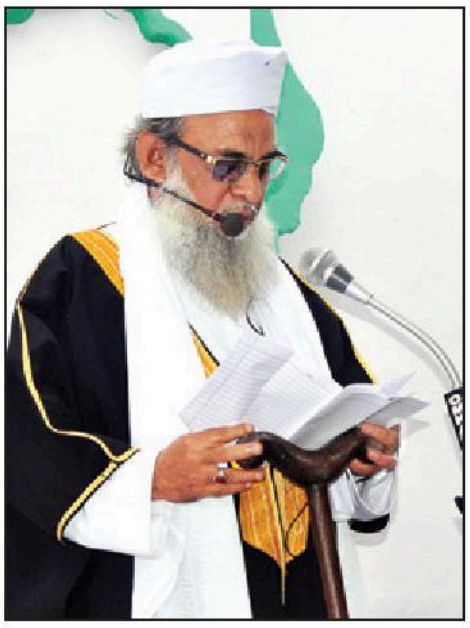
Ramzan prayers held in city

Sir Khazi leads mass prayer, calls for peace and communal harmony



Mysuru, June 26 (NNN& RK) - Sir Khazi Hazrat Maulana Mohammad Usman Sharief called upon the people to maintain peace and communal harmony in a strife-torn world today. Leading the Ramzan Prayers at the sprawling Eidgah Maidan in Tilak Nagar, as thousands of Muslims gathered here this morning, the Sir Khazi said, "The 30-day fast that the Muslims keep is a training for them to understand what hunger is and through that feel for the poor and needy. However, it should not be just during the month of Ramzan that one should be pious but implement such qualities throughout one's life."

Regretting lack of education, he said only when there is good education that people can progress. One should spread communal harmony, love and understanding throughout the world.

Harnessing human resources

The nation's youth are being talked about in circles of both the informed and the uninformed with diverse outlook and understanding. They account for half the land's total population yearning for a livelihood. The steadily growing mass of graduates that are coming out of Universities across the country with hopes of making it in life but not landing jobs, preferably in one or the other department of government, if not one or the other corporate, has been unsettling the powers-that-be with no signs of the grim situation easing in foreseeable future. While the IT sector provided timely relief to both the administration and the youth with the required competence, opportunities for jobs witnessing unprecedented in both numbers and pay packet, since mid-1990s, the happy times seem to be not sustaining currently. The educated youth, although seen in industry circles as not-yet-job-ready, cannot be let down if, as a distinct category in the nation's population, they are not heading to be wasted human resources of the nation.

Urban space is fast becoming unlivable even as rural youth, particularly the unskilled section, are trooping in hoping to bat on greener turf, only to find their urban counterpart bogged down in spite of their street-smart image. Turning the rural youth back to the fields for pursuing agriculture sounds like a pipe dream, particularly because farming is no longer perceived as a rewarding avocation.

The consequences of allowing the numbers of unskilled and unemployed youth to expand exponentially in both urban and rural India are as clear as daylight, the more clear fallout being the youth taking to wayward life marked by criminal acts of murder, robbery, rape, fraud and not to forget, latching on to politicians of all hues, notably the despicable flock among them. Society should be grateful to individuals, institutions, and voluntary groups that are doing their bit in bringing the misdirected back on track, even if their combined efforts are far short of the humongous dimension of the task of harnessing human resources.

The law-keeping wing of the government, it must be remarked without casting aspersions on the functionaries, is on the job of nabbing the offending youth, but that amounts to closing the stable after the horses have fled. The citizenry owe it to the country and to themselves by being proactive in keeping vigil on gangs enlisting juveniles as foot soldiers to carry out criminal acts, even as the land's politicos are spoiling the broth as it were.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Till now, the paradigm for urban sanitation has been costly. It requires first the supply of water — costly water as it is transported longer and longer distances. The more the water that is supplied, the more the sewage that is generated. So, the next part is to build under-ground conveyance systems to connect each household and to transport the wastewater also longer and longer distances to sewage treatment plants so it is cleaned before discharge. But even this is not enough. The fact is that our rivers have little clean water to assimilate even treated effluents. This means sewage treatment plants have to clean waste to near bathing water quality before release into rivers. This never happens. Pollution grows even as governments chase pipe-dreams of building more sewage treatment plants, under-ground drains, and toilets. It never adds up. — Sunita Narain in Business Standard.

Hair into Incredible Sculptures

Yamoussoukro: Laetitia KY, 21, a young fashion designer from the Ivory Coast, recently went viral on social media for an original photo series where she sculpts her long hair into a variety of shapes, from human hands, to bunny ears and even the African continent.

KY says that she has always been fascinated by hairdressing, but got the idea for creative hair art a year ago, while admiring the intricate hairstyles of women from various African tribes. The results are nothing short of awe-inspiring.

Laetitia's art is so impressive that using her own curly hair, hidden wire and some fabric, the young fashion designer is able to sculpt pretty much any shape imaginable, from giant hands holding her phone for a selfie, or to a small female dancer. The only limit seems to be her imagination.

Hello Kitty Memorabilia!

Tokyo: Hello Kitty was designed to appeal to young girls, but its biggest fan may just be an adult Japanese man. 67-year-old Masao Gunji has been collecting Hello Kitty memorabilia for the last 30 years, and he was recently acknowledged by Guinness Records as the owner of the largest Hello Kitty collection in the world.

Gunji, a retired Police officer from Yotsukaido, in Japan's Chiba Prefecture, bought his first Hello Kitty item over three decades ago, at a sightseeing spot. He just thought it looked really cute, and it ended up making his stressful job a bit easier. With plenty of time on his hands, Masao Gunji started buying all the Hello Kitty memorabilia he could get his hands on. He found them at department stores, in supermarkets, discount stores etc., Before he knew it, Masao's collection got so big that he hardly had any room to move in his home. So he built a pink Hello Kitty house and decorated it with his thousands of themed items. Masao Gunji's Hello Kitty collection was officially recognized as the largest in the world in Nov. of last year, after a very detailed appraisal.

Mysuru on the Literary Festivals Map of India

Sir,

Literary Festivals are picking up momentum across Indian cities. Kudos to Mysore Literary Association headed by Prof. K.C. Belliappa and Dr. H.S. Shivanna with their dedicated colleagues for bringing Mysuru on the Map of Literary Festivals of our Country.

It was a matter of gratification for the book-lovers, in particular, of English novels to attend in full house the other day in the big auditorium (about 800 seating capacity) of Senate Hall in Manasagangothri where the first Mysuru Literary Fest was held.

Say, with the earmarking of around 6 to 7 hours (barring the one hour inaugural session), the Fest within that time was held in the real sense satisfying the authors and those who interacted with them besides the large audience who listened to them. It was also an occasion to see the writers of fame in presence.

Star of Mysore did a good job of becoming Media Partner so that the interest in the Festival was created by featuring the participating writers in advance which made many readers (I was one among them) to attend it.

It is, indeed, the desire of book-lovers that this Festival grows further in all aspects in the coming years annually.

A wish: May be in a location with an open sprawling grounds in the midst of nature erecting canopies for the sessions with the writers!

By the way, my memory goes back nearly 50 years ago when there was in existence a Literary Union in Mysore which used to meet in a small room above the Town Hall where book-lovers would meet monthly for some literary activities. It was given free by the then City Municipality.

I wish some old Mysureans threw more light on this Literary Union.

More on Dewan Rangacharlu

Sir,

Dr. A.V. Narasimha Murthy has thrown much light on the sterling personality and yeoman contribution of Dewan Rangacharlu to Mysuru Sansthan (SOM dated June 18).

DVG, the doyen of Karnataka, has recorded the services of Rangacharlu in his book "Jnapaka Chitrashale", which is a text book for I B.Com students of University of Mysore. Today Karnataka Government secured first rank in bribery by getting 77% marks, whereas the neighbouring Kerala stands last by getting 4% marks.

During the days when Rangacharlu entered the Mysore Kingdom, bribery prevailed everywhere and the kingdom was a great debtor. It was due to his stringent action and reforms, the Mysore Sansthan became a bribe-free State.

It is a timely suggestion made by SOM that Rangacharlu statue is to be installed in front of the Rangacharlu Town Hall or any other suitable location. Of course in no circle or park Rangacharlu's statue is installed as per my knowledge. Will the MCC, with an unprejudiced mind, take a timely decision on this matter?

No early polls: CM in Hassan

Hassan, June 26- Amidst speculations that the State Government might advance the Assembly elections to December this year, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has said that the polls would be held in April-May 2018.

Speaking to press persons here on Sunday, Siddharamaiah asserted that there was no plan to call snap poll. The Assembly election will be held in 2018 after completion of full term of the Government, he said and blamed the BJP leaders for unnecessarily creating confusion about the polls.

Rubbishing BJP State President B.S. Yeddyurappa's prediction that the elections would be advanced, Siddharamaiah said that the Congress is prepared to face the elections and the process of forming booth level committees was under progress.

JD(S) to support Meira Kumar in Presidential election

Bengaluru, June 26- The JD(S) on Sunday decided to support former Lok Sabha Speaker Meira Kumar, the opposition candidate in the Presidential polls.

Former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda and his son H.D. Kumaraswamy endorsed the candidature of Meira by signing on her nomination papers in the presence of Congress leaders in Bengaluru. Earlier, KPCC President Dr. G. Parameshwara, AICC Secretary Suraj Hegde and other Congress leaders met Gowda at his residence in Bengaluru and sought JD-S' support for Meira.

JD(S) has 40 MLAs and three MPs. However, the party has expelled eight of its MLAs on the grounds of indulging in anti-party activities during last year's Rajya Sabha elections.

Meanwhile, it is learnt that by extending support to UPA nominee Meira Kumar, the JD(S) in Karnataka is attempting to score brownie points over its rivals ahead of 2018 Assembly polls, by wooing SC Left.

Meira, the daughter of former Dy. PM Jagjivan Ram, hails from Chamar caste (In Karnataka it is in the SC Left category). NDA's Ramnath Kovind is from Koli community which is not included in SC category in Karnataka.

T. Narasipur's Madhava Mantri Dam to get a facelift soon

Dam was built at Hemmige village by Madhava Mantri of Vijayanagar Empire in 14th Century

T. Narasipur, June 26 (SK)- The Madhava Mantri Dam built across river Cauvery near Talakadu in Tirumakudalu Narasipura taluk will soon get a make-over with the State Government giving administrative approval for construction of a new dam.

Following numerous complaints on frequent breaching of a portion of the dam and its canals, PWD and District in-Charge Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, who also represents T. Narasipur Constituency, raised the subject of constructing a new dam at the recently concluded Legislative Session.

Said to be built in 14th century AD by Madhava Mantri, an eminent Minister and Viceroy in the Vijayanagar period, this mud and earthwork barrage offers a wonderful topography for River Cauvery to create a miniature falls over it. The dam, which is used for irrigation purpose, doubles as a picnic spot during monsoon.

The Madhava Mantri Dam irrigates more than 5,600 hectares of land. But a few years ago, a portion of the dam collapsed resulting in water entering the fields and destroying the standing crops. The Government, however, repaired the dam as a temporary measure to facilitate irrigation.

Now the Government has accorded administrative approval to construct a new dam at an estimated cost of Rs. 62 crore.

The new concrete dam will be of 527 metres in length. The State Cabinet also has approved the project, which has come as a major relief to the farmers of the region.

DAM BREACHES

The Madhava Mantri dam is located at Hemmige, some four kilometres from Talakadu. Normally, a portion of the dam breaches whenever there is a major release of water from the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam in Mandya.

While the officials say water release pressure from the KRS causes the breach, localities say it could be lack of maintenance and unregulated sand mining in the surrounding areas.

A SLICE OF HISTORY

Legends say that the Madhava Mantri Dam was built by the Vijayanagar kings. Talakadu and all of Mysore and South Karnataka were once part of the famed Vijayanagar Empire and Bukka was the ruling Emperor. One of his many Ministers was Madhava Mantri.

A signboard on the structure claims that the dam was built in 1140 AD making it the second oldest dam next only to the Grand Anicut, built by Chola King Karikalan during the first century, on the Cauvery further downstream at Tiruchirapalli in Tamil Nadu.

Madhava Mantri was a Brahmin and was as apt at debates and war. Bukka deputed him to conquer Goa from the Bahamani kings. Madhava Mantri seized Goa and built a Gommateshwara Temple.

Bukka then ordered Madhava Mantri to look after the Mysore province. Madhava Mantri then decided to build a dam across the Cauvery a little upstream Talakadu. He did so as he wanted to divert the water for irrigation purposes.

The dam led to the river bank splitting into two. The swift south-westerly winds that blow across this region regularly began depositing sand at Talakadu which lay directly in the path of the wind. The first incidents of sand blowing towards Talakadu occurred sometime in 14th Century and they continued for several decades. And now Talakadu lies buried under sand.

Satellite imageries have shown historians and archaeologists that the construction of a dam across the Cauvery by Madhava Mantri resulted in the river changing its course over centuries. Satellite data clearly proves that the river has shifted its course by four to five km in the last 300 to 400 years, resulting in the accumulation of sand.

INSCRIPTION

An inscription found on the structure of the dam says that a stone was taken from a temple at Talakadu while the dam was being built by Madhava Mantri. The fragmented inscription in Tamil language does not have a starting portion.

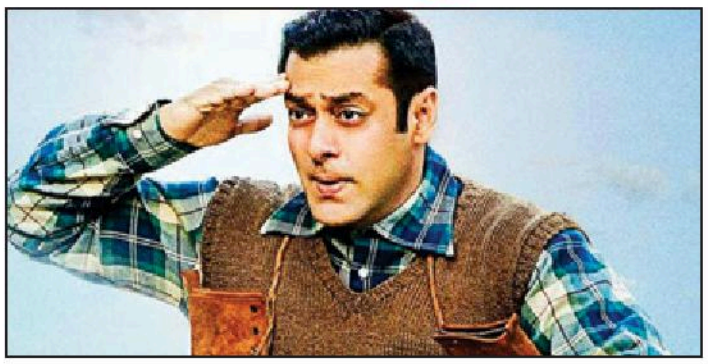
'Tubelight' ignites my memory



It was a happy Saturday for me. Morning breakfast in a city restaurant with Rotary friends to cut the birthday cake, savour it and say 'Many happy returns of the day' to our fellow Rotarian Raghavan. This was followed by a film show sponsored by the birthday boy in the evening. My Saturday was done.

The film was 'Tubelight'. What a title I thought. But these days film titles are short and sweet or sour or tangy unlike in the earlier days —'Jhanak Jhanak Payal Baaje,' 'Qayamat Se Qayamat Tak,' 'Dilwale Dulhania Le Jayenge,' 'Kabhi Khushi Kabhie Gham...' so much so they were tongue-twisters and memory-testers. They would be talked about using acronyms like JJPB, QSQT, DDLJ, K3G. Let it be.

This title 'Tubelight' intrigued me because on many occasions when a subtle joke is cut and I was late in laughing, while others were already having a belly laugh, I would be called a tubelight adding to their mirth. Often a tubelight is 'choked' leading to many blinks (or winks) before it finally lights-up. In other words, one who is slow in uptake, in grasping lessons or issues is called derisively a tubelight if not an idiot. And such a person often becomes a butt of jokes among his friends and fellowmen.

In the film, such a person is its hero Salman Khan, who plays the role of Laxman Singh Bisht, one of the two brothers. The other brother is Bharat played by his real-life brother Sohail Khan. Mostly, it is a sort of all in the family film. It is an adoption of the 2015 Hollywood film 'Little Boy.' Therefore, it is a tribute to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 'Make in India' call to the nation. See how quickly this film was made in India — 2015 in America and 2017 in India. Actually it is a case of 'Remake in India' Modiji ! After all, Indians are known for mimicking and aping.

The film is rooted in the 1962 India-China war. Living in a place (Kumaon, I guess) at the foot of Himalayas with the Chinese Dragon breathing over the mighty mountains, these two brothers decide to join the emergency recruitment to the Army, like it was all over India. For obvious reasons Laxman fails. Bharat succeeds. It is an anti-war film revolving around these two brothers with lot of humour and sentiments. Poor Salman Khan sheds bucketful of tears, there seems nothing in his tear-duct for his next film! Anyway all is well that ends well, the brothers live happily thereafter.

However, as for me the film revived memories of the 1962 Chinese war and brought back memories when my younger brother [Lt. Col. (retd.) K.B. Uthappa who died recently] joined the Emergency Commission at Bangalore giving up his second year study in MA Philosophy at the Maharaja's College, Mysore. After the preliminary selection, he chose Army. But I chose Navy and failed in the final selection at Cochin. See where I am, a pen-pusher.

My brother's days of destiny began in 1971 when India began to hear the drums of war in Pakistan. The West-Pakistan rose-in-arms against Pakistan for denying Prime Ministership to Mujibur Rahman of the West-Pakistan (East Bengal) despite his party winning the majority in the Parliamentary election...India was unwittingly pushed into the war in support of West-Pakistan (now Bangladesh). No one had declared war officially but India was sending its men from armed forces into Bangladesh as 'Mukti Bahini' in civilian dress — lungi and shirt but armed. In the heat of the war my brother, then a Major, was on a cross-country march with his men. He had narrated one incident that was axiomatic of the saying that 'everything is fair in love and war.'

About a dozen of Indian soldiers led by him had entered a small village and the folks there either surrendered or fled. One small shop-keeper, standing inside the kiosk, did not come out nor did he raise his hands in surrender. My brother was shouting orders at him to surrender but by then the Subedar Saab with him had discharged a fusillade of bullets on the man — the enemy. The, perceived, enemy's body was riddled with bullets and in smithereens. The clothes of my brother and his men were splattered with pieces of flesh, bones and blood... and they marched on to Dhaka to witness the victory of India and the surrendering of Pakistan.

I was in Pune then and a frequent visitor to National Defence Academy (NDA) Khadakwasla — where I had my friend. I was with my friends when a Coorg Junior Officer mentioned my brother's name among the killed. I simply broke into a scream and began crying crazily with awkward body movement that my friends had problem controlling me. Days passed and a letter came to my NDA friend from my brother asking him to get stitched a set of uniforms and send it post-haste. It was done. And after a couple of months, he came to Pune and we had a raving party to celebrate the survival of a bloody, dirty war.

Be that as it may, I enjoyed the film 'Tubelight.' After all, any art, theatre or film, must exaggerate to keep the attention of the audience. So I pardon Salman Khan for his torrential tears and acting a role of an youngster for his age which is past his youth by many years. Indeed, he is a master entertainer.

Vaastu-Feng Shui & Bio-energetics

By S.B.S.Surendran
Accredited Master Feng Shui Consultant

Attuning spatial energies

Energy keeps changing every minute, the effect of temperature changes, solar energy and magnetic fields have found to be having a strong influence on the human mind and body. Over a period of time its quite common to accumulate things which could contribute towards creating blockages and stagnation not just in your personal life but even affect your career and work. Feng Shui mitigates such obstacles through periodic fine tuning and re-alignment of your space which ensures that any time period based afflictions or man-made blockages are identified during the process of Feng Shui corrections.

Change always works from the inner to the outer and this is fundamental.

Feng Shui is working with the flow of Chi (your energetic life force). Our bodies have currents of energy that flow within. Chi or life force as it is often called is very similar to many of the elements that we use, feel, taste smell and see in every moment of our lives. In fact, it is the energy that gives power to everything around and inside of us.

Feng Shui says that, anything new enters our life only when we create space for it. Only when we re-energise our living space do we have the benefit of new beginnings along with abundance, prosperity and peace.

The personal Feng Shui of an individual also goes through cyclic changes which as per Chinese Zodiac astrology is a combination of the animal sign with the year element which in turn determines the luck of the individual for that year. This is handled through adapting general symbolism in the place of dwelling or work which is supportive to the individual Chinese Zodiac sign and in addition many carry personal protection known as "self cures" to mitigate the onslaught of bad energy and afflictions.

However, if sourcing a personal cure or identifying the right symbolism is a problem aligning few things more accurately in your home can offer great protection and energy balance.

a) Energy must flow unrestricted and freely to have good Chi; if it is blocked or stagnant you may find it hard to get moving and to keep moving. Remove obstructions and clutter from your pathways, hallways, driveway and entry. Keep them open and clear for free flowing Chi (energy).

b) Balance and harmony are fundamentals of Feng Shui walk around and feel the energy of your space — how does it feel to you? If you detect a lack of balance or harmony in a particular area, take note of it and try to realign things.

c) Strengthen the North sector or the area of your home or office, as it is connected to Your Path in Life, or Career. Both Water and Metal element colours are good in this sector and you could even place images connected to the growth of your career and overall, your growth as a human being on this earth.

World Hockey League Semi Final - 2017

India finishes sixth

London, June 26 - India went down 2-3 to a resilient Canada in the fifth-sixth place play-off of the Hockey World League (HWL) Semi-Final here yesterday.

By making a fifth finish, Canada have booked their berth for the 2018 Odisha Hockey Men's World Cup in Bhubaneswar.

It was goals by Gordon Johnston (3', 44'), Keegan Pereira (40') and an incredible effort by goalkeeper Antonie Kindler that pushed India to the sixth spot in the tournament. Harmanpreet Singh scored both the goals for India with penalty corners in 7th and 22nd minutes.

There was plenty of action in the first quarter with Canada taking the lead through a penalty corner scored by Gordon Johnston in the third minute.

In the second quarter, India increased the tempo with an improvised attack. Their effort won them two back-to-back penalty corners but Canadian defenders were up to the task to deny a lead. Minutes later, Mandeep did well to find Scott Tupper's feet in the circle to win India their fifth penalty corner.

This time Harmanpreet was right on target, picked up the ball beautifully after Sardar Singh's near-perfect injection to fire the ball past Canadian keeper in the 22nd minute to give India a 2-1 lead. Though both team traded penalty corners in the next few minutes, neither could make it count.

However, a brilliant opportunity came by when Akashdeep and Talwinder Singh worked in tandem, with a well-timed run into the circle and perfect interchange to convert a goal. But Talwinder's shot was blocked away by the keeper Antonie Kindler.

Going into the third quarter with 19 circle penetrations, six penalty corner chances and better ball possession, India showed that they were the better team in the first half and had done well to recover from an early 0-1 setback.

They hoped to keep up the momentum, and initially did so by denying Canada a shot on goal when they won a penalty corner in the 32nd minute. Desperate defence from Canada saw them give away India their 7th penalty corner of the match in the 35th minute. But Canadian goalkeeper Kindler came up with a brave save to deny Harmanpreet his third goal of the match.

A turn-around in the match came in the 40th minute when Mark Pearson set up Keegan Pereira to score a brilliant goal to equalize 2-2. After missing a penalty corner chance early on, Johnston scored a splendid field goal in the 44th minute to hand Canada a 3-2 lead. The hero of this quarter however was Kindler who came up with a spectacular save off the tip of his stick to deny Ramandeep Singh a goal that cost India greatly.

The final 15 minutes saw India make desperate attempts to make a come-back. Forward Sunil did well to win India a penalty corner in the 47th minute when he found Johnston's foot in the circle. But nothing came off the opportunity for India. In the 50th minute, Sunil set up Mandeep who used a reverse hit to smash the ball to the goal but Kindler was up to the task with an impressive save to deny India an equalizer.

India pulled off their goalkeeper Akash Chikte in the final three minutes of the match, playing with an extra defender. Canadian keeper however stayed resilient in his defence to deny India any goal to end the match 3-2 in favour of Canada.

ICC Women's World Cup 2017

Windies take on the mighty Oz

London, June 26 - Four years on from its ICC Women's World Cup success in Mumbai, Australia meets the team it beat in the final, West Indies, as its begins the defence of its title in Taunton.

And these two high-quality teams know each other well, having also met in the ICC World T20 Final in Kolkata just last year with the West Indies coming out on top.

With recent successes fresh in their memory, both sides have hopes of lifting silverware at the Home of Cricket on July 23, making this a key match to stamp their authority on the tournament.

The 2013 champion, Australia, enters the tournament in good form with two comfortable wins over South Africa and Pakistan in the warm-up matches.

Captain Meg Lanning knows what it takes to win the World Cup but is aware her side will have to be much-improved if it is to retain it this year.

In contrast to Australia, West Indies lost both its tournament warm-up games, being bowled out for just 63 by South Africa and then failing to defend 246 against Pakistan. West Indies though is extremely familiar with many of the Australians due to their recent meeting and has had a number of its players, including Deandra Dottin and Hayley Matthews, competing in the Women's Big Bash this winter. And Captain Stafanie Taylor is determined to treat the opening game of the tournament the same as any other, despite the ongoing rivalry and familiarity between the two sides.

Negative media reports have hurt politicians: Minister

Mysuru, June 26 (SPN&DM)- Accusing the media of giving too much prominence to negative reports, Primary and Secondary Education Minister Tanveer Sait has said that such reports have hurt the personal life and values of politicians.

He was speaking after inaugurating 'Gundurayara Nenapinangala,' a programme organised in memory of former Chief Minister late R. Gundu Rao by Parivarthanam Trust at Ideal Jawa Rotary Hall on JLB Road on Saturday.

Observing that the situation three decades ago was totally different from now, with the media then giving more prominence to valued articles and reports, Tanveer Sait said that with negative reports becoming the order of the day, the voice of politicians is losing significance.

Noting that earlier the words of great leaders such as Devaraj Urs, Bangarappa and R. Gundu Rao were considered as an order, the Minister said the situation was totally different now, with the statement of political leaders being taken very lightly.

Recalling the situation in which Gundu Rao as Chief Minister had to face a complex situation while evacuating unauthorised layouts, Sait said that Gundu Rao intervened to stall the demolition of unauthorised houses at 29 layouts including Gundu Rao Nagar in city, thus coming to the rescue of the shelterless.

From then on, successive Governments have failed to implement 'Akrama-Sakrama' scheme despite best efforts, he said adding that total commitment holds key for implementation of such schemes that are largely beneficial to the poor.

Achievers from various fields — K. Raghuram, D.T. Prakash, H.N. Sridhar Murthy, C. Narayanagowda, Mullur Guruprasad, Nagaprasad Iyer and Manu Venkataram — were honoured with 'Gundu Rao Award' on the occasion.

City Congress President R. Murthy, City Co-operative Bank Director N. Dhruvaraj, Corporator Raghuraje Urs, Ajay Shastri and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Argy-bargyplay

Pronunciation: Ahr-jee-BAHR-jee.
Meaning: A lively discussion : argument, dispute.
Origin: Argy-bargy and its slightly older variant argle-bargle have been a part of British English since the second half of the 19th century. Argy and argle evolved in certain English and Scottish dialects as variant forms of argue. As far as we can tell, bargy and bargle never existed as independent words; they only came to life with the compounds as singsong reduplications of argy and argle. Some other colorful words that can be used for a dispute in English are squabble, contretemps, and donnybrook.
Example: The tenants got into a bit of an argy-bargy over their shared porch.

THE ODD WORD

Fanfaronade

Swaggering; empty boasting; blustering manner or behavior; ostentatious display.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A fly in the ointment

Meaning: A small but irritating flaw that spoils the whole.
Origin: These days ointments are chiefly for medicinal use - just the thing for rubbing on that nasty rash. In earlier times, ointments were more likely to be creams or oils with a cosmetic or ceremonial use. Literally, ointment was the substance one was anointed with. There is considerable anointing in Bible stories and it isn't surprising therefore that this phrase has a biblical origin. Ecclesiastes 10:1 (King James Version) has:

"Dead flies cause the ointment of the apothecary to send forth a stinking savour: so doth a little folly him that is in reputation for wisdom and honour." Our contemporary phrase 'the fly in the ointment' didn't appear until later. The earliest example I have found in print of that precise wording is in John Norris' A Practical Treatise Concerning Humility, 1707: 'Tis that dead fly in the ointment of the Apothecary.

IN EVERLASTING MEMORY

Shri H.N. Girish (Giri)
(20-06-1973 to 25-06-2017)

A thorough gentleman, who grew on his strong values, business acumen and relationships, has sadly left us long before it was time. His deep bonding with family since childhood, love and kindness for friends and people around him, will be missed.
We salute this great man, not only a former Volleyball Champ, but also a Life Champ for us who saw all the virtues in him. May God give strength to his family at this moment of profound grief.
MAY HIS SOUL REST IN PEACE.
